"BE SURE YOU ARE RIGHT, THEN GO AHEAD!"

THE MOTTO OF A GREAT HERO & FAMOUS SCOUT & TRAPPER.

DAVY CROCKETT was one of the most famous of all the great Indian fighters, trappers, hunters and scouts of the great plains of America in the first half of the last century. In the campaign and revolt which tore Texas away from Mexico, and made Texas independent, Crockett was a soldier, under the lead of General Sam. Houston. During that struggle Crockett and about 140 of his comrades were obliged to barricade themselves in an old church called El Alamo, in what is now the City of San Antonio, Texas. Here they were besieged and finally stormed by a vastly larger force under General Santa Ana, and made such an obstinate resistance that the heroic little garrison was killed to the last man—Crockett of course among them. But to this day he is remembered all over the United States for a plain proverb which he uttered often in life among his comrades of the plains and prairies: "Be sure you're right; then go ahead!"

A better motto was never given to man. It fits every case and situation in life, but none more aptly than in proper care of the person against, or during, bodily ills.

Many have wondered, "and still the wonder grew," how a remedy which was confessedly a cure for but one single disease should attain to such enormous sales as Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup has done; but when it is borne in mind that to Dyspepsia we owe almost all the ills which afflict us, it will be seen that a medicine which can cure that Main-Spring of Disease must reach the cases of multitudes of people. Such is, indeed, the simple fact. Physicians ordinarily give a variety of descriptive or special names to diseases which all come under the one category of Dyspeptic complaints—such as malaria, liver complaint, kidney disease, and the like—all of which are simply due to obstructions or irregularities in nature's digestive processes to which we owe our very existence. But common sense would suggest that the very best plan of action is to strike at the root of the evil, which is simply INDIGESTION, and thus eradicate symptoms and disease together. Far too many cases of so-called Consumption are nothing more or less than bad cases of Dyspepsia, the symptoms of which are of the most painful character, but which readily yield to the soothing and healing influence of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. Be sure you get the right remedy—Mother Seigel's remedy—"then go ahead!"

Mother Seigel's Soothing Plasters.

The Best External Remedy.

THESE Plasters are soothing, healing, and stimulating. Their medicinal properties are absorbed by the skin, and thus become diffused through the entire system. They are flexible and porous, thus fitting closely to the part where applied, and allowing the humours withdrawn from the body to escape. Better than salves, liniments and embrocations, and cheaper beyond comparison.

What Does it Mean?

WHAT mean these strong and impressive letters? Why do people write them to men who are comparative strangers? They have no interest in the welfare of our business. They can gain nothing by sending us such flattering testimonials. Then why do they write them? The fact is, they know that Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup is worthy of the confidence of the community. They themselves have been relieved of pain, suffering and disease, and they are anxious that others who are suffering may find relief as they have done. They have a friendly feeling for their kind, and they have sent us these letters from a sense of duty to suffering humanity, pointing out the way of escape from pain and disease. It means that Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup has merit, and that it does good to our race afflicted with disease. If you are ill, read all these letters slowly and carefully, then show them to others.

Piles and Costiveness.

THE soothing, balsamic, and healing properties of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup render it of the utmost value in curing hæmorrhoids, or piles. The movements of the bowels are made free, regular, and natural; all irritation is removed, inflammation is subdued, and the piles vanish as if by magic under the influence of this agreeable regulator and healer. Neither costiveness nor diarrhoea can exist when this regulator has done its work, for it promotes the flow of sufficient bile and the other natural fluids of the intestines to regulate the movements and give tone to the bowels. Blind piles, bleeding piles, itching piles, etc., disappear with the use of Mother Seigel's Syrup, and are cured as effectually when high up in the bowels as when at the terminus of the intestines. The Operating Pills should be used occasionally to promote the cure.

A COATED tongue with a brackish taste is caused by foul matter in the stomach. A few doses of Mother Seigel's Operating Pills will cleanse the stomach, remove the bad taste, and restore the appetite, and with it bring good health.

A Canadian Bailiff's Testimony.

McMILLAN'S CORNER, Ont.,
Sept. 19th, 1903.

"In answer to yours of the 17th, I was taken sick in the Spring of 1896, with stomach trouble. I went from 160 to 115 lbs., and I was laid up for three years that I could not do anything. I doctored all the time but got no relief. I was not able to carry a five pound weight across the floor. I was advised by John Rush-man, of Berwick, Ont., who was affected the same and had taken Seigel's Syrup with fine results and so I started to take it. I took it steady for two years. Before the two years were up I went to work and I have worked right along, thanks to Mother Seigel's Syrup. It cured me and I cannot recommend it too highly for a stomach medicine; it has done wonders for me.

"(Signed)

ED. J. MALONEY,
Bailiff."

OTHER PEOPLE'S TALK.

Florence Nightingale and her Great Hospital Work and Reward.

How Good Repute is Won.

What People who have been Cured say about Mother Seigel's Syrup and her other Remedies.

SOME WONDERFUL STORIES.

REPUTATIONS, good character, are acquired from the favourable judgment, opinions and experience of others. Florence Nightingale, the heroic and angelic nurse of the Crimean War, did not tell of her own good deeds and services in the hospitals, but the maimed and crippled and invalided soldiers from the camps at Scutari sang her praises because they had seen and had had the benefits of her self-sacrificing devotion, her kindly help. And so she has become known to mankind as a veritable angel of the hospital camp, and in her declining years, in her quiet London home, she is venerated as much as any woman living.

There is no better way of letting people know about the good qualities of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup than by permitting some of those who have been either cured or benefited by its use, to tell what good it did for them. The proprietors of this wonderful remedy know of its virtue and could write and print endless books showing how beneficial it is. But that would not convince the ordinary man or woman—they would naturally think and probably say, "self-praise is no praise," and from the ordinary standpoint they would be right. And this is why good Mother Seigel will not here say one word for herself or her remedies, but will "let other people do the talking."

Florence Nightingale.

The first person you will hear from is Mrs. Elydia Norris, who is now nearly 79 years old. Hear her!

22, MARGARET STREET,
WASHINGTON STATION, COUNTY OF DURHAM, ENGLAND.

February, 11th, 1904.

To MESSRS. A. J. WHITE, LTD.,—"GENTLEMEN: It is now ten years since I was restored to perfect health, after a most wearing illness, by Mother Seigel's Syrup; and with reference to the testimonial I sent you some time after, in December, 1898, while residing in Washington Cottages, Washington Village, I am pleased to inform you that I have enjoyed excellent health ever since.

"As stated in the testimonial, when I first began taking Mother Seigel's Syrup, I had been suffering from indigestion for a long time, and was in a very low state of health. I had no appetite, and food always caused me pain at the stomach, and in the side. But my worst affliction was palpitation. My heart used to flutter in a most alarming way sometimes, and I became positively afraid to walk or move because of it. I felt weak and depressed, and all spirit seemed to have gone out of me.

"But Mother Seigel's Syrup soon restored me to health, and now, though in my 79th year, I am well and strong, and can do my housework quite easily.

"I always recommend Mother Seigel's Syrup as the best medicine in the world, and you are free to publish this statement as you may please."

(Signed) ELYDIA NORRIS.

What Mrs. Norris Suffered From.

In the original testimonial which Mrs. Norris made on December 14th, 1898, and which was printed in full, and circulated in a booklet issued by A. J. White, Limited, in 1899, she described at length her ailment and its symptoms. Among other statements she said:—"For many years I was troubled with indigestion and palpitation of the heart. My appetite ran down to almost nothing, and after meals I had pain and oppression at the chest and side. I felt languid and depressed, and sometimes a sinking, all-gone sensation would come over me. At times my heart fluttered and I was afraid to walk or stir. I took many kinds of medicines that I read or heard of, but none of them did me any good. In October, 1893, I read in a newspaper of what Mother Seigel's Syrup had done for several persons who were suffering from complaints and symptoms the same as mine. Naturally this made me feel more hopeful, and I got a bottle of the Syrup, and, after taking it a few days, I felt a degree of relief that was truly wonderful. I, of course, continued with it, and improved so rapidly that I was soon able to eat well, and to digest without any pain. In a few weeks the ailments were all gone, and I found myself strong and well."

Mrs. Norris also told of the great benefit derived from the use of Mother Seigel's Syrup and Plasters by her husband, who was suffering from lumbago and rheumatism, and by her daughter, Mrs. Robinson, "who," she says, "was cured by Mother Seigel's Syrup when she was at death's door, and the doctors could do nothing to help her."

Hear Still another Speak.

That is a strong and satisfying proof of the great curative power of Mother Seigel's Syrup, but it does not stand alone. We have hundreds of letters on file of similar import, many of recent date. Read this one and learn what the experience of another sufferer was, and how she was freed and keeps herself free, from illness:—

"Messrs. A. J. White, Ltd.—Some time ago when I was living at 25, Bentinck Street, I sent you a testimonial to the value of Mother Seigel's Syrup as a cure for indigestion, and as seven years have passed since then, and I have had no return of the complaint, I think this shows that Mother Seigel's cures are real cures.

"Of course I am occasionally out of sorts like other people, but the terrible pain and fulness at the stomach I used to experience never trouble me now. For years I suffered from indigestion and flatulence, and became so weak from want of food and rest that I could hardly do my housework. Many a night I have had to sit up in bed trying to bring up the wind, so that I might get to sleep.

"But Mother Seigel's Syrup soon cured me of all that, and I have been strong and well ever since.

"You have my full permission to publish the foregoing as you please."

(Signed) MARY ANN PARKER.

It was on June 2nd, 1897, that Mrs. Parker wrote the original letter-testimonial of her cure, and it was printed in the booklet issued in the autumn of that year by A. J. White, Ltd. In that statement she said: "I tried many kinds of medicine, but obtained only temporary relief. For years I suffered in this way, when one day a small book was left at our house, and I read in it about Mother Seigel's Syrup. I then bought a bottle from Mr. Sloan, the Chemist, and it soon relieved me. My appetite revived, and food no longer caused me pain. After taking this Syrup a little time I felt stronger than I had felt for years. My son had also taken the same remedy for indigestion, with the same good results. If any of us ail anything, Mother Seigel's Syrup soon puts us right."

This is a Man's Story.

"Thanks to your wonderful medicine," wrote Mr. W. J. Scuffins, of Leeds, England, "I am now enjoying good health after suffering a long time from indigestion. In the spring of 1897 my health gave way. My skin turned sallow and the whites of my eyes actually got as yellow as an old gold coin. Of course, you will understand what ailed me; it was biliousness. My right side, down where the liver is, was so sore I couldn't bear to touch it. When I ate I had severe pains in the chest and back.

"Some of my neighbours thought I was going off in a consumption, I got so weak and so thin, and used to spit up such a lot of phlegm when I coughed. Had it not been for Mother Seigel's Syrup, I don't know what would have become of me. I had been ill fifteen months, but the very first bottle of Seigel's Syrup gave me great relief, and the improvement went on until I was strong and well again, and no amount of money could have given me the comfort and contentment which resulted from the use of that splendid medicine."

It was in April, 1900, that Mr. Scuffins described his miseries in that fashion. He is living now at 55, Runcorn Street, Leeds, and on March 2nd, 1904 (this year), he again wrote to the proprietors of Mother Seigel's Syrup, saying: "Though four years have passed since I last wrote to you, I am pleased to say that I am still in the best of health, and have never had the least return of the old complaint—indigestion and biliousness—since Mother Seigel's Syrup cured me.

"I always keep the Syrup in the house, however, and my wife and I both take a dose occasionally, just to keep us right, for she is as firm a believer in it as I am. It made a man of me when I had been so reduced by fifteen months' suffering as to be almost a physical wreck."

These are examples of what people have twice said about Mother Seigel's Syrup, of the "reputation," the "good character" of the medicine which we spoke of in the opening words of this story. These people not only spoke well of it, and expressed their happiness years ago—from seven to ten years ago—but they repeat those statements, they re-affirm them. Their experience with this great remedy justifies them in giving their glad tidings to all others who are suffering as they suffered. And what do their latest statements prove? They simply make it clear that MOTHER SEIGEL'S SYRUP DOES CURE INDIGESTION, in any form, and that the cures it makes are permanent—they last for years.

He is Old but Does Not Feel It.

RIVER OUELLE, Que.

March 14th, 1904.

SIR,—I believe in your medicine for it cured me. I am in good health after taking four bottles of Mother Seigel's Syrup. I had inflammation of the bowels when I was fourteen and was not well nursed so that I never felt well. I never wanted to relieve myself. I have taken loads of medicine as I am now seventy-two years old, Castor Oil and Pills of all kinds. Nothing did me any good. Now I feel so well that if I did not know my age I should think myself about twenty. This is the truth.

Yours truly,
(Signed) THEODORE LEBEL.

"Raising the Wind."

THE phrase, "raising the wind" is as old at least as Shakespeare's time and in the elapsed years has come to have several meanings, or applications.

One of the most ordinary of them is that in which it is used as implying the getting of some money, be it more or less, under difficult conditions, when one is, in effect, "hard up." Another form of it relates to the fix in which the sailor finds himself, when his ship or boat is becalmed, and he realises the need of hastening on his voyage. Then he feels that he would like to "raise the wind," and tradition says that the seasoned "old salt," and sailor lad, alike, often "whistle for a wind," as their superstitious way of wooing the favour of old Boreas, the wind god. But if you would learn of another form and urgent need of "raising the wind," and what came of it, read this letter from a well-known and widely respected gentleman living at the Paddock, Rothwell near Leeds, England. Writing on January 28th, 1904, he says to Messrs. A. J. White, Ltd., London:—"Gentlemen: Having derived more real good from the use of your Mother Seigel's Syrup than from anything else I have ever taken, I feel constrained to send you the following account of my illness in the hope that other sufferers may benefit by my experience."

"For many years I was a martyr to indigestion. It attacked me first in the form of wind on the stomach, and a feeling of suffocation which was most distressing. There were also pains between the shoulders and in the lower part of the back, with, sometimes a sensation of dizziness. But it was the terrible choking suffocating feeling that I dreaded most. This would come on frequently in bed just after I had got to sleep, and I would start up positively gasping for breath. Night after night I have paced the room till two or three in the morning trying to get the wind up. As time went on this became a more frequent occurrence, till at length I was never sure of a night's rest. I consulted several doctors at various times, and tried many alleged remedies, but with no result, and I was beginning to despair of a cure, when as a last resort I decided to try Mother Seigel's Syrup. I may say that I had no faith in the article at first, but as it had been strongly recommended to me I decided to give it a trial, and soon found that one may judge too hastily.

"In a very short time I found myself improving in health. The wind and resulting suffocation gradually subsided, and soon I could go to bed in confidence of having a night's undisturbed rest. As I continued with the medicine the other troubles disappeared also, and soon I was as well as ever before.

"Since then I have had attacks of rheumatism and sciatica, but for these also I find relief in Mother Seigel's Syrup. I have recommended the article to many friends, and in every case it has done good. (Signed) H. P. NEWSOME."

Mr. Newsome is retired from business, and has been a public official and taken an active part in civic affairs in Rothwell. Now, he has been effectively cured by the use, as he firmly declares, of Mother Seigel's Syrup, and one of the first remedial effects he tells you was that "the wind subsided," and there had been no return of his trouble. You may note, however, that he not only uses the Syrup for Indigestion, but for Sciatica and Rheumatism also. Mother Seigel's Syrup has been successful in cases which have baffled the best medical talent, and what it has done it may be trusted to do still. Whether your case be acute or chronic, the result will be the same. Only in long-established cases there is need of patience and faithfulness in using it.

Remove the Cause.

WHEN a person has a foreign substance in the eye it causes inflammation. As long as this mote is in the eye remedies will not subdue the inflammation, their application is useless. But after removing the mote, the cause, the remedies produce a decided result, and a cure is effected. We run a splinter into one of our fingers, and it causes pain and inflammation, followed by a festering sore. No remedies do any good until the splinter is removed. This is the case with all the diseases with which we are afflicted. We have pain in the head, we become dizzy. We have nausea. The food we eat causes distress. We have pains in the back over the region of the kidneys, the discharge of nature becoming scanty, attended with pain and distress. The skin becomes cold and sticky, and, in fact, we have all kinds of bad feelings without realising the cause. We take medicines for one symptom, then for another, but without obtaining relief. The "splinter," which in this case is Dyspepsia or indigestion, has not been removed. It is useless to doctor the symptoms. We must remove the cause, then the symptoms (the result of the real disease) vanish. This is the principle upon which Mother Seigel's Syrup acts. It cures the indigestion, then the pain in the head stops, the dizziness disappears, the food ceases to distress, and begins to give nourishment to the system. The pain about the kidneys which alarms us so much ceases, and the discharges become natural, and before we hardly realise the fact we find ourselves well, because we have removed the cause.

Diseases of the Skin and the Blood.

ALL diseases of the skin are blood diseases, for when the blood is pure the skin must be free from all unhealthy eruptions, and all impurity of the blood is caused by indigestion. Pimples on the face or body, erysipelas, salt rheum, ulcers, sores, boils, carbuncles, every disease which shows itself upon the surface of the skin, including scrofula, are caused by bad blood. Scabs in the hair, sore eyes, running from the ears, etc., result from vile humours in the blood, which can be speedily exterminated by Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup.

The skin of Old Mother Seigel was marvellously white and pure and smooth, and although sixty-five years of age, she told me she attributed the ivory-like clearness and elastic texture of her skin to the occasional use of the Syrup. The coarsest skin can be made soft and beautiful by the use of this puri-

A Newfoundlander Speaks.

OLD PERLICAN, Nfld.,

Dec., 15th, 1903.

"I am very much pleased to hear from you again. I was thinking about you just before I received your letter and was real glad to hear you are still alive. I will accept your Almanacs with thanks, as I told you I sell a lot of Mother Seigel's Syrup and Plasters. I have lots of Customers and the people appreciate them very much. I could say a bit about Mother Seigel's Plasters. I think they carry the day for sore backs. Wishing you a happy Christmas.

"Yours,
" (Signed) MOSES BURNEY."

Seeing Through Things.

"OF course you know how the Röntgen rays, or "X" rays as they are sometimes termed, enable you to see through a block of wood, or to see the bones, the skeleton form, of your hand through the flesh." "Yes." "Well!"

Some "smart" people always think they can "see through a thing," as the phrase goes, quicker and better than other people can. They are generally suspicious people—not clever people, merely cunning, always impugning the good faith and looking for hidden purposes or motives, behind the acts of others. For example, there are some people who are so foolish ("clever," they call it) as to think that the testimonials which we print are not genuine, that they are paid for, and that people do not write them of their own free will. They can "see through it, you know."

Well just so that "you can see through them," and see how thin they are, we print on page 16 a fac-simile of part of a letter that came recently from a writer whom we have never seen, and on the following page the full text of his letter. We might reproduce hundreds of letters in fac-simile, but it is unnecessary, and we prefer to give people numerous examples and extracts in easy-reading, cold type, instead of in the varied and sometimes difficult or peculiar handwritings. So now you see through the whole subject.

It is unnecessary to say anything about Mr. Ariss's convincing statement. He tells you in plain terms what he suffered from, what efforts he made to find relief, and—best as well as last of all—what cured him—Mother Seigel's Syrup.

"DEAR SIR,—

"I hope you will pardon the liberty I take in writing to you, but I feel it is my duty to write and let you know what Mother Seigel's Syrup has done for me. It has done that for me that doctors couldn't do. Dear Sir, I must tell you I have suffered for some years with terrible pains in my head and in my left side, but in 1902 I seemed to collapse altogether. I was at home ill a month at Easter, then I dragged on till June, then I was laid up five weeks. Then I dragged on again till the end of the year, when I was laid up again the last two weeks in 1902, and the first two weeks in 1903, and I never thought I should ever be any better, and words fail me to tell the state I was in. I could eat scarcely anything, and what I did eat seemed to all turn to wind. I got that weak till I could hardly walk. I could not get my breath; I was just as if I was suffocating, and I had an awful sensation at the pit of my stomach which I cannot express, and which I shall never forget as long as I live. I was under three different doctors, and neither of them seemed to understand my case, and the pain in my left side got so bad that I was afraid my heart was affected, so I determined to go to a physician at Nottingham. Well, he examined me, and he told me he was pleased to say my heart was all right. He said my stomach was the weakest part about me, and all the trouble arose from my stomach, and he could soon put me right. The first bottle of medicine he gave me seemed to do me good, but after that I seemed to get as bad as ever. I had three weeks' medicine from him, and I was very little better for it. When I walked a bit I felt as if I was walking on India rubber, and as if everything was going round with me, and so in the second week of 1903 I commenced to take Seigel's Syrup, and the next week I went to work, and from then till now,

I may say I do not take it regularly now, but I keep it in the house, and if I feel a little out of sorts I take a dose or two, and it soon puts me right. I wouldn't be without it on no account. I may say I am 51 years of age, and I feel better than I did when I was 40, and I feel that I owe it all, under God, to Mother Seigel's Syrup.

Could Not Move Without Tears in Her Eyes.

TANGIER, Halifax Co., N.S.

A. J. WHITE & Co.

SIR,—I, too, owe Mother Seigel's Syrup a word of praise for what it has done for me. Fourteen years ago I was a sick woman. I had kidney disease very bad, and such a pain under my right shoulder that I had to get it rubbed often in the middle of the night with liniment. I suffered with cold feet and bad indigestion and my head was so dizzy that when I went to step forward I would stagger backwards and have to catch hold of things to keep from falling. I used several different kinds of medicine but got no relief. At last my back got so bad I could not bend over the wash-tub without tears coming in my eyes. I had to give up and said I would have to hire help to do my work. Then I got one of the little books telling of the cures made by Mother Seigel's Syrup. I sent away to the shop and got a bottle, and after I had taken a few doses I felt a difference. I took the bottle and got another. I found it was just the medicine I wanted. It acted so gently on the bowels it made a different woman of me. I got hearty and strong, and since that I would not do without it in my house. I have had over fifty bottles since that time. My family had the scarlet fever and I did not know what it was. I just used Seigel's Syrup on them, and they had hardly got well when they got the measles and I dosed them all through with Seigel's Syrup and got them round all right. I always feel safe when I have some in the house, and tell my friends that I keep my doctor in the cupboard. I hope many others will be benefited by it as I was.

Gratefully yours,

(Signed)

MRS. THOMAS FERGUSON.

Worms in Children.

THESE pests are bred by the corrupt matter in the system. They often induce an unnatural appetite, and again destroy the appetite altogether. Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup will drive them from the stomach and bowels, and expel and destroy the decaying substances on which they thrive.

Mothers should give their children occasional doses of the Syrup to keep the stomach in order, and thus prevent worms being engendered there. This is true of all the parasites that infect the bowels and skin. It starves and cleanses them away.

The following letter from Mrs. A. Le Masson, a certificated nurse of over twelve years' experience, shows what she thinks of Mother Seigels' Syrup as a cure for that common and persistent disorder, worms in children.

5, MANDEVILLE PLACE, LONDON, ENGLAND.

"I have found Mother Seigel's Syrup a splendid cure for worms in children. A few drops in milk, given three times a day, with the food, will soon disperse these troublesome pests. I have used it successfully in such cases for several years, and I have much pleasure in recommending it.

Yours faithfully,

NURSE LE MASSON."

This is as strong an endorsement as could be desired, for Mother Seigel's great remedy in the treatment of this complaint, because it does not refer to a solitary case of cure but to many cases, covering several years in actual practice.

Old Friends are Best.

COLE HARBOUR, N.S.,

Sept., 12th, 1903.

There are quite a lot of new medicines here but I think that quite a lot of my customers will come back to their old friend Mother Seigel's Syrup.

Mrs. John Gammon sent to ask if we had the Syrup: said she could not live without it, as it was the only medicine that did her any good.

Yours truly,

(Signed) GEO. D. JAMIESON

Dyspepsia.

PERCE, County Gaspé, Que.,

April 14th, 1904.

To A. J. WHITE &amp; Co., Montreal.

DEAR SIRS,—For some time I suffered dreadfully with dyspepsia and bronchitis and tried a great many remedies, but I did not get any relief until I used Mother Seigel's Syrup which cured me.

I am now cured and can recommend your medicine, for which I am very thankful.

Believe me,

Yours truly,

(Signed) MRS. P. LE BRETON.

Blunders and Blunderers.

SOMETHING over thirty years ago a wealthy society woman of Baltimore, U.S.A., was on trial in that City for the murder, by poisoning, of her old-time friend, a retired General of the American army. The charge was pressed against her with great vigour, the Attorney-General of the State of Maryland taking part in the trial. Among the witnesses for the lady, Mrs. Wharton, was a Dr. Warren, who was being closely cross-examined by the chief prosecutor. He was asked whether he might not be mistaken as to an opinion he had expressed, and replied that he was sure he was not mistaken. "But doctors do sometimes make mistakes, do they not, Doctor?" asked the Attorney-General. "Doubtless they do," answered the Doctor, "but I am not mistaken in this case." "Oh! then you think you are infallible," was the lawyer's quick retort. "Of course doctors have the great advantage that when they make 'mistakes' their 'mistakes' are buried about six feet under ground!"

The doctor flushed angrily, but at once controlled himself as he answered in smooth, cutting tones: "Probably, much in the same way as when lawyers make 'mistakes,' their 'mistakes' are hanged on a gallows tree." The lady was found "not guilty."

Both of these minds recognised that mistakes can and may be made, and a great French diplomat made the declaration, "A blunder is worse than a crime."

Did it ever occur to your mind that there are millions of errors, mistakes, blunders made every day, and that they cost thousands of lives, make invalids and cripples of hundreds of thousands, cost millions of pounds in money and cause unbounded human misery? Generals make blunders in war; statesmen err in diplomacy; bankers commit mistakes in finance; merchants miscalculate in commerce; doctors make errors in diagnosing (or finding out) the true character of disease afflicting their patients, in fact the extent of blundering is without limit. And in all the wide domain of error the most costly and impossible to repair is the blunder of neglecting your health, or the mistake of adopting the wrong remedy. Men, women and children sicken and die, or become hopeless invalids from both of these causes, in thousands of cases simply because the remedy—the right medicine—was not at hand.

Think over this idea—You can think, as wisely and as well as anyone, all over and around this great field of thought. And when you have done it let us ask you to consider the merits of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, the World's remedy for Indigestion. It is absolutely safe as a medicine; it has cured millions of people of many ailments, and never harmed a single one; it is so reasonable in price that it is within everybody's reach. Keep it always ready in the house. Do not make the blunder of being without it, the mistake of failing to use it. You can very rarely retrieve a blunder, even if lawyers and doctors can sometimes hide theirs.

Ninety Years Old, This Man.

BOULARDERIE CENTRE, N.S.,

Nov. 23rd, 1903.

"I am now 90 years old and for the last 20 years have almost continually used Mother Seigel's Syrup; I do not think I would be alive without it. Six months ago I fell and dislocated my hip which prevents me from moving about and sometimes I am deprived of this medicine to which, with the help of God, I owe my long lease of life.

"Yours truly,
 ("Signed) CHRISTYANN MATHESON."

How the Liver Makes Trouble.

A PERSON in health does not know he has such a thing as a liver, but when the system gives way to the ravages of disease, he is made sensible that he really has a liver. After one has spent a couple of years in the tropics he knows there is a liver generally to his sorrow, for this organ is the main spring of the human organization. When the liver becomes disordered and diseased, the person so afflicted is indeed miserable. He suffers from dull pains in the side, bad taste in the mouth, spots before the eyes, flushes of heat, irregularity of the bowels, piles, coated tongue, disordered stomach, heartburn, costiveness, and pain in the head. He frequently has a dry cough, highly coloured urine, yellow skin, and dull sleepy sensations, rendering him unfit for business or for employment. The hands and feet are cold, circulation of the blood sluggish; the patient suffers with vertigo, ringing in the ears, loss of appetite, nausea, and sick headache, heartburn, dry scurfy skin, etc.

Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup acts moderately upon the bowels producing two or three easy passages a day, without purging or griping. The liver being made active secretes healthy bile and filters impurities from the blood by the use of this wonderful regulator and invigorator, and all the disagreeable and painful sensations above mentioned are one by one removed as the blood is cleansed and renewed. The skin loses its sallow appearance, and the bloom of health and beauty takes the place of the haggard look and pallid hue of disease. A dose of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup taken at night on going to bed, will, in a short time, prove its purifying and cleansing properties by bringing brilliancy to the eye, bloom to the complexion, and vigour to the whole body. Few doses of Mother Seigel's Operating Pills will aid in effecting cure.

If you value your health don't be put off with substitutes when it is Mother Seigel's Syrup you require. Substitutes are only imitations and are never as good as the real thing.

When Attacked You Need a Friend.

MR. WM. BEST, of Kimberley, Ont., says:—

"For attacks of bloating I tried several doctors without permanent relief, but was cured by Mother Seigel's Syrup."

MRS. B. SMITH, of Kimberley, Ont., says:—

"I used to have bad bilious attacks but I found that using Mother Seigel's Syrup gave good results."

Burning of the Stomach Completely Cured.

CHANTELLE, Que.,
Feb. 23rd, 1904.

SIR,—Mother Seigel's Medicine is not known much round here, but there are some who have used it and say it did them much good. I have used it myself with success. I was cured of a burning in my stomach completely. I cannot but commend it very highly. Our storekeeper seldom keeps this medicine long in stock.

Yours obediently,
(Signed) J. A. MORIN,
Postmaster.

Cured of Neuralgia.

LEASKDALE P.O., Ont.,
Jan. 11th, 1904.

"I had neuralgia for two months, I doctored for it and tried Liniment and Spirits of Turpentine and tried other different remedies. And one of our neighbours told me that she had tried Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup so I got a bottle and tried it. When I had half the bottle taken I was completely cured and it has never bothered me since. I highly recommend it, and I wish to have my name published.

"I remain, yours truly,
(Signed) MISS CLARA BRETHOUR."

Two Hours in a Cell.

"I WONDER how a fellow feels locked up in there," said the writer to the Governor of a big prison as we were peeping into a cell through the grated iron door.

"If you want a taste of it, I'll lock you up for a couple hours," answered the Governor pleasantly.

"All right, go ahead." I stepped inside and he locked the door with a clang, and left me. No sound, no view, nobody to talk to. I lay down on the iron cot and wondered when they would take me out and hang me; or whether I was likely to get a new trial. At the end of the second hour the Governor released me. "Had enough?" he asked. "Quite enough," I answered.

And yet I would rather take a month of that sort of thing than the long confinement Mr. George Robinson got—in his house, mind you—after the fashion he told of in a statement signed on August 24th, 1899, at his home, Rawcliffe, R.S.O., Yorks, England.

"I was laid up for eleven weeks with acute dyspepsia and the maladies that are part and parcel of it," he said. "The trouble began back in 1888. The first of it was just weakness, loss of appetite, and a low, miserable state of feeling. Then there was pain at the chest and stomach after eating—a time when well people are at their best. After that I couldn't sleep of nights, except by naps and catches, when I got completely tired out. So the complaint went on, getting worse and worse, until I was laid up for eleven weeks. My doctors didn't seem able to relieve me for more than a day or so at a time.

"On a neighbour's word I tried Mother Seigel's Syrup, and began to mend almost at once. My breathing and appetite both improved, and in a few weeks I was in sound health."

It is five and a half years ago since Mr. Robinson made that declaration and over fifteen years since he began to suffer, as he has described. On February 25th this year at his home, still at Rawcliffe, he made another declaration and signed it, in which he says to us:—"Since I wrote to you nearly five years ago concerning my almost miraculous cure by Mother Seigel's Syrup, I am pleased to say that I have continued to enjoy good health. All the old weakness and depression are gone, seemingly for good, and I feel as strong and well as a man could wish to be. I had been prostrate eleven weeks when I got my first bottle of Mother Seigel's Syrup. Several doctors had attended me, but I got no better until I commenced on Mother Seigel's Syrup. Almost from the first I began to mend, and in a few weeks was as well as ever. As I have said my cure was almost miraculous."

Disease, and debility arising from disease, are the cruellest of gaolers—they never voluntarily release their victims. But let the prisoners cry out for help to Mother Seigel, and she will give them quick freedom from their toils, with health and strength into the bargain.

Good Medicine for Farmers.

ISLE PERROT, Que., March 14th, 1904.

DEAR SIR,—I take pleasure in testifying to the qualities of Seigel's Curative Syrup. It is the best medicine for the diseases that it is recommended for, to be found in the drug stores, but there is none that I commend so highly as Seigel's Syrup. Without exception all who have used it praise it.

Yours truly,

Bladder and Kidney Troubles.

WHEN the body is in a healthy state the various salts of the body are carried off by the water passages, but when there is a weakness in the urinary organs these particles do not pass off, but lodge in the bladder, kidneys, and urethra, and keep growing in size by continued fresh adhesions until they sometimes form substances varying in size from that of a bean or pea to that of an egg. These troubles and obstructions are known as "stone" and "gravel," and language fails to describe the sufferings of people afflicted by them. If they are not cured the end is great misery and—death. It was a misdirected effort to relieve the Emperor of the French, Louis Napoleon, by crushing the stone in his bladder that caused his death.

Pain in the small of the back, hips and thighs; heat and inflammation; desire to make water without being able to do so; and burning, smarting, indescribable agonies which render life a burden and death a relief. Sometimes the particles of gravel are so sharp and cutting that they tear the sides of the passages, and then blood flows from them. Sometimes the bladder and kidneys are filled with slime and cannot perform their duty.

The water channels should always be kept free and open. When there is the least disposition to an accumulation of gravel it should be immediately dissolved and made to pass off. Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup does this and also cleanses the kidneys, bladder, and water passages, and gives strength to the organs and endurance to perform all the labours required of them in carrying off the watery portions of the food after all the nourishment it contained has entered into the blood, and gone to repair the daily waste of the system.

Could Not Eat or Enjoy Food.

TRINTON HARBOUR, Nfld.,

MESSRS. A. J. WHITE & Co.

June 25th, 1903.

DEAR SIR,—About ten months ago I felt tired and weak, having no life or energy. I could not eat or enjoy food of any kind. After meals I had gnawing pains in the stomach and through my back. I suffered severely for two months and kept throwing up my food. I tried a lot of other medicines, but could not get relief, until my friends told me to try Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. I got a bottle and after taking two or three doses it gave me comfort. I took two bottles of your wonderful medicine and have been able to eat almost everything since then. It is the very best thing in the world that I can get for my complaint and that is Indigestion. Please publish this.

Yours truly,

(Signed)

MRS. ANNIE WILLIAMS.

The Slave's Revenge.

"THE stomach," says Souvestre, "is a slave which is obliged to accept everything imposed upon it; but finally avenges its wrongs with the slyness and cruelty of a slave."

The eminent French author has happily expressed an important physical fact. When one comes to reflect upon it there is something unique and pitiable about the position of the stomach in the human body. Upon no other organ except the lungs can you impose anything from the outside world. And it is your interest as well as your desire to draw into your lungs pure, fresh air, only.

And air in some form is the only thing the lungs ever receive. On the other hand, the stomach is a general receptacle, entirely at the mercy of its owner as to what shall be put into it; when, where, and how much. A man can throw into it anything that can be swallowed—every variety of food, any sort of drink, any amount of both, up to the bag's elastic capacity; and, if he wants to, he can put a layer of marbles on top, and finish off with Prussic acid.

The point is, as M. Souvestre says, that this most important of all our organs is our slave. It cannot resist, it cannot call the police, it has no recourse to the law; it just takes what comes, and abides its time. But how to take care of the health, how to prevent the outbreak of ailments, is a problem much more complex than it seems to be. Therefore, when the enslaved and outraged stomach turns and lashes its owner, with the cat-o'-nine-tails called dyspepsia, it must not be assumed, offhand, that the owner intended to drive his servant to desperation.

Mr. Thomas Anderton, of 50, Mill Lane, Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, described in writing on June 3rd, 1897, how his stomach punished him and what he did to cure his ills. He said: "For many years I have suffered with indigestion and weakness. My appetite was bad, and after eating I had pain at the chest and bowels. I never felt well rested, was heavy and weary, got very weak, and at times had to leave my work. I tried several medicines and spent pounds in physic, but got little benefit. A friend told me of the benefit he derived from taking Mother Seigel's Syrup. I got a bottle of this medicine and after taking it could eat well, and the food agreed with me. I soon found that the medicine was doing me more good than anything I had taken. By taking a dose now and again I keep in good health." It will be seven years next June since Mr. Anderton made that statement, and he has not been ill since—his stomach lashes him no more. Read for yourself what he says to us in a letter, dated at his old home, on February 15th, this year:—

"Gentlemen, it may interest you to know that since sending you my testimony in 1897 to the value of Mother Seigel's Syrup, I have continued to enjoy good health. I shall take the medicine as I need it, and would not be without it in the house. When I think of how I suffered I am sorry I did not know of it sooner. I never had a proper night's rest, and I became so weak and languid that I could not work. Nothing did me any good but Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. That cured me, and I shall always be grateful."

It is better never to be sick, but when we do fall ill it is a grand fact that a cure is at hand in the form of Mother Seigel's Syrup, which soothes the stomach and transforms it once more into a willing and faithful servant—not a rebellious slave.

Mother Seigel's Operating Pills.

UNLIKE many kinds of cathartic medicines, do not make you feel worse before you feel better. Their operation is gentle but thorough, and unattended with disagreeable effects, such as nausea, griping pains, etc., etc.

Mother Seigel's Operating Pills are the best family physic that has ever been discovered. They cleanse the bowels from all irritating substances, and leave them in a healthy condition. They cure costiveness.

These Pills prevent fevers and all kinds of sickness by removing all poisonous matter from the bowels. They operate briskly, yet mildly, without any pain.

If you take a severe cold and are threatened with a fever, with pains in the head, back and limbs, one or two doses of Mother Seigel's Operating Pills will break up the cold and prevent the fever.

Mother Seigel's Operating Pills prevent ill effects from excess in eating or drinking. A good dose at bedtime renders a person fit for business or labour in the morning.

The Pills being sugar-coated, are pleasant to take; the disagreeable taste common to most pills is obviated.

When the tongue is coated, the head heavy and aching, an offensive taste in the mouth, the appetite poor, and the spirits dull, a dose of these Pills speedily changes this miserable state of things and supplants it by the exact opposite.

The wisest and most cautious of us are sometimes tempted to eat and drink too much, and to sit up too late at night. When we have been guilty of this indiscretion, there is nothing in the world like Mother Seigel's Operating Pills to speedily correct the unlucky results, and to send us off to business next morning with a clear head and an elastic step. Briefly, it is no idle statement to make, that so excellent and scientific a combination of qualities places Mother Seigel's Operating Pills far in advance of any others yet offered for the relief of those ailments for which Pills are specially adapted.

St. Paul's Dome Points the Way.

SOME things in this world, even though the purpose in creating or constructing them may have been more or less selfish, appear to be ordained to do good in some way to the people at large. Thus, St. Paul's Cathedral was built simply as a place of worship, yet it is a sort of hub to the great wheel of London, a monument whereby to identify and locate the city. For many miles outside of London you can see the great dome of St. Paul's swelling up in the air; and you have only to say to the inquiring stranger who is seeking the centre of the largest city in the world—"You see the dome of the Cathedral? Yes. Well, make straight for it and it will lead you into the heart of London."

Oblige me now by reading these sentences, taken from a letter written by Mrs. Mary Northey, of 20, Hull Street, Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, on June 2nd, 1897, and the little talk that follows it, and you will understand the point of the chat about the dome of St. Paul's:

"In September of 1896 my health began to fail me. I felt low, weak and tired. My appetite was poor, and after eating I had a nagging pain at the chest through to my back. I had a doctor attending me and I saw two other doctors, and went to the Newcastle Infirmary, where they wanted to operate on me, but I refused to let them do it. Nothing gave me relief. One doctor said that my stomach was ulcerated, and gave me up, saying he could do no more for me. I had a nurse attending me, being very weak. I gave up hopes of getting better, when in November (1896) I read in a book of cases like mine that were cured by Mother Seigel's Syrup. I got a bottle of it, and after taking it I felt that it was doing me good. I persevered with it, and soon gained strength, and gradually regained good health, all the pain leaving me."

Mrs. Northey now lives at 13, Hull Street, Newcastle-on-Tyne, and on February 15th, 1904, she signed another statement in which she says: "Some six or seven years ago I had occasion to write to you of the wonderful cure effected in me by Mother Seigel's Syrup. Since then I have continued in excellent health, and am now as well and strong as a woman could wish to be. When I began taking Mother Seigel's Syrup I had almost given up hope of relief. I could eat no solid food, and I became so weak that I had to take to bed, and I had been there four months when I finally tried Mother Seigel's Syrup. Soon I was on the high road to health again, and I have never had a day's illness since. Mother Seigel's Syrup saved my life, and I shall always recommend it when I can."

The little book Mrs. Northey read in bed served, in her distress, the same purpose that St. Paul's dome does to the wayfarer seeking London—it "pointed the way," and by following its directions she regained health and strength and happiness rapidly, and at little or no expense. Take a leaf of wisdom from her book of experience; let her point the way for you.

Rheumatism.

No one who has suffered from this ailment needs to be told what a painful and crippling thing it is. In treating it we must bear in mind that rheumatism is an inflammation of the joints and muscles, caused by a deposit in them of a poison from the blood, called uric acid. You know that in a crooked river or stream the loose stuff that floats on the water is always apt to lodge in the bends and eddies where the current is slow. It is the same way in this case. The blood flows much slower in the joints and muscles than it does elsewhere in the body; and so the floating acid poison settles there, and causes rheumatism, or gout.

It was once thought that damp, worry, anxiety, &c., were among the causes of rheumatism, but this has been found to be a mistake. These things often develop the disease as they develop the symptoms of mercurial and lead poisoning; but the poison is already in the tissues, and although damp and wet and worry, by hindering the action of the skin, liver, or kidneys, may bring it out, they are never the cause of it. You may be saved much time, money and disappointment by sticking a pin through the fact.

It follows that in the beginning rheumatism is only due to indigestion and dyspepsia, for if the stomach and other digestive organs did their duty, there would never be any poison in the blood to sow the seeds of rheumatism. The mode of cure is then easy to see. We must cure the indigestion and dyspepsia—of which rheumatism is only a symptom—and thus get rid of our rheumatic aches, pains, and stiffness. Liniments, ointments, plasters, and poultices do no real good. They comfort for an hour or two, but cannot cure.

Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup removes the deposits from the joints and muscles, promotes the secretion of the natural fluids, and keeps fresh poison from forming. Many a poor rheumatic, after a faithful use of this great healer and cleanser, has been able to leave his bed, or throw aside his crutches and once more move erect and freely.

Mother Seigel's Ointment.

EVERY family requires some kind of Ointment to be kept in the house to be used in cases of Burns, Scalds, Sores, Bruises, etc., for such accidents usually occur when least expected. In order that every housewife may provide for an emergency of this kind, we have made Mother Seigel's Ointment which will be found invaluable in such cases. This Ointment acts both soothingly and curatively in all cases mentioned above.

He Told It Ten Years Ago.

TEN years is not a great period of time. Well! that is, ahem! It all depends whether it is spent in gaol or on what the poets call "flowery beds of ease." It is not a long period contrasted with the historic lapse of time. And yet a great many important events have occurred in the last ten years. Our good Queen Victoria has passed away, and her discreet and experienced and popular son has come to reign in her stead. The Boer war has been fought and the Empire is supreme in Africa. The Rontgen rays, and radium and wireless telegraphy have been discovered and put into use. The Spanish-American war has resulted in banishing Spain from the new world, which she practically owned at one time. And President Carnot and King Humbert and President McKinley have died at the hands of assassins. This is the historical view of a few incidents.

But here is a little story of something else that happened just within the past ten years. Mrs. Ellis Prest, the wife of a well-known postman, lived then as she does now at 12, Railway Terrace, Thirsk, Yorks, England, and she had been painfully afflicted since 1899 with indigestion. "In August, 1894," she said in a statement sent seven years ago to the proprietors of Mother Seigel's remedies, "when on a visit to Redcar, Mr. Hardy, living in that town, told me how his wife had suffered, and had been cured by Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup." The result was that she began using the Syrup, and was finally freed from all her pains and distress.

That would have been a great boon to anyone who had felt the misery she endured, but writing again on March 18th, 1897, she said, "The awful pain at the heart left me and I have since kept well." Seven years have passed since she made that written declaration. You might wonder whether she is alive or dead, sick or well, weak or strong. Now read what she wrote on February 23rd, 1904: "About seven years ago I sent you a testimonial telling you how I was completely cured of indigestion, after five years suffering, by Mother Seigel's Syrup, and that when doctors had failed; and I am pleased to say that I have had no return of the old complaint. Before I learned the value of Mother Seigel's Syrup I was never really well. I felt no energy, no interest in life. My appetite was very poor, whatever I ate caused me pain at the chest, my breathing was difficult, and I had an acute pain just over the heart, which quite alarmed me. Mother Seigel's Syrup cured me of all this, and I shall always recommend it to all I know."

There is a woman's testimony to the great experience she has undergone in ten years; she tells you how she suffered and how she was cured and remains cured. And all her comfort, her good fortune, comes from what Mr. Hardy told her in 1894, at Redcar, while she was on a visit.

A Word to Women.

WOMEN, young and old, owing to their delicate and peculiar organism, are subject to disorders which affect only their sex, and they need specific remedies and treatment. Popular as Mother Seigel's Syrup is with both sexes for the various ills common to them, it is the women who speak of it in terms of warmest praise—and with good reason. It seems especially adapted to the troubles which are distinctively and peculiarly theirs.

At the critical period of life they derive from its use a degree of relief and benefit not obtained from any other medicine.

The sense of pressure on the brain which makes the head feel as if it would burst, is quickly abated by a few doses of the Syrup.

The melancholy and profound depression of spirits, which develop sometimes into acute mania, and infrequently end in self-destruction, give place to a wholesome and natural cheerfulness under its influence.

It dispels those conditions of the blood which cause the tendency to cancer, tumour, and other morbid growths.

It prevents the formation of varicose veins and other evils of a clogged and corrupt circulation.

It removes that sensation of bloating, warms and stimulates the stomach, and takes away the feeling of coldness and insensibility from the hands and feet caused by excess of blood in the head.

It cures also the trembling of the limbs.

By thus equalising the flow of the blood, Mother Seigel's Syrup does away with the hot flushes followed by chills, and creates a genial and even warmth and sense of comfort throughout the system. As a remedy for the habitual costiveness which is so common at this period, the Syrup excels all other preparations. It moves the bowels gently, and keeps them free and natural. By so doing it also stops heart palpitation, nervousness and weakness.

In short, this most excellent medicine meets every requirement of the crucial epoch of woman's life as nothing else does.

GENTLEMEN,—I think the efficacy of Mother Seigel's Syrup and Pills is so well known that I need not speak in its praise. However, I will tell you that it is unsurpassed as a family medicine.

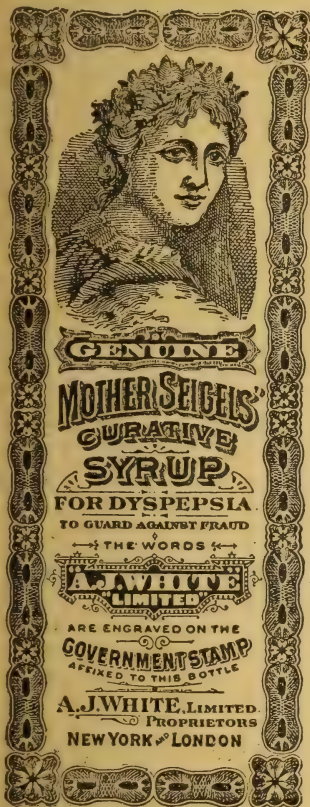

We always keep it in the house and when anyone is unwell we find it use sufficient, and I am glad to tell you that we have always been satisfied with the results obtained by taking it.

Yours truly,

(Signed)

GEORGE LEGER.

GENERAL DIRECTIONS FOR TAKING Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup

DOSE.—FIFTEEN TO THIRTY DROPS two or three times a day in a wineglass of water, immediately after eating.

NOTE—Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup is put up in a very highly concentrated form, therefore the dose must be given in drops—one teaspoonful contains 60 drops. The dose is easily regulated, as one-quarter of a teaspoonful is 15 drops. Persons purchasing this medicine can rely on its having as much strength as if put up in pint bottles.

Commence by taking ten or fifteen drops three times a day instantly after eating, in a little cold sweetened water. It is best not to take Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup on an empty stomach. If this does not give relief, increase the dose to thirty drops, always to be taken instantly after eating, so that Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup may become mixed with the food while being digested. It is essential that the bowels be made to move freely every day, and if the above doses of Syrup be not sufficient to effect this, take one to four of Mother Seigel's Operating Pills at bedtime. It is better to take the Pills than to increase the dose of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup.

FOR WORMS IN CHILDREN—Three to ten drops of the Syrup in milk, or milk and water, to be given with the child's regular food, and three times a day; for children under five years old the smaller dose.
